Meeting the People Who Make Lives Better

What's your perfect weekend?

I would say going up to the Lakes, doing some walking and kayaking every now and again—I just love it!

Describe a moment in your current role that made you feel especially proud.

Not in the classroom if that's ok, but probably whenever we have a Mass and you hear the children singing and see everyone smiling—it is amazing.

What's something surprising about your job that most people wouldn't know?

That I have turned into a gardener—I run the school eco club. I've just got back actually from buying some compost. I now have some form of knowledge about looking after plants which I did not have before.

If you could swap roles with anyone in the Trust for a day, who would it be and what would you hope to learn?

Helen Arnold—our school Regional Performance Officer. I would find it really interesting and would love to see what goes on in lots of different schools and what her role involves on a day to day basis. It would be great to learn from so many schools.

What do you think makes your school a unique place to work or learn?

The diversity is amazing. Everyone is accepted and we look out for each other. We are a family.

Do you have a favourite place you love to visit again and again?

The Lakes of course, but I'd probably say Kendal Calling. I love it and go every single year. It's great, apart from when you forget to waterproof your tent like I did this year...

In one sentence, how would you sum up what "Making Lives Better" means to you?

What does Making Lives Better mean to me? It is all about giving the children the skills and experiences they need to have to go out into the real world and have a positive impact.

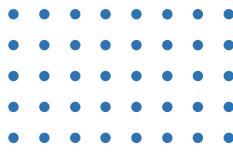

Which book, TV show or film do you recommend to everyone?

Suits!

What's one thing on your bucket list you still hope to tick off?

Go to America.

We hope you have enjoyed learning about a member of our Trust family who works so hard to Make Lives Matter. If you would like the opportunity to work with people like this, please visit our Trust website to learn more.
