Meeting the People Who Make Lives Better

What's your perfect weekend?

I like to be out and about seeing something new or finding hidden gems. I have had dogs for 20 years and love walking, climbing, anything outdoors with them.

Describe a moment in your current role that made you feel especially proud.

I have been here 21 years so there is plenty. However, this year I got to dress up as Father Christmas, I did the meet and greet with the children. To be more involved with this and seeing all the children so happy was amazing.

What's something surprising about your job that most people wouldn't know?

I do a bit of everything, and it is not the same every day! I say it is more on the technical side—I need a lot of knowledge of rules and regulations.

If you could swap roles with anyone in the Trust for a day, who would it be and what would you hope to learn?

I would swap with the headteacher, Mrs Campbell. I would love to see from the top of the school and understand her responsibility and the regulations she must follow. You are in charge of so much and you can't get it wrong. I would like to see the tougher side to the headteacher role.

What do you think makes your school a unique place to work or learn?

That's easy! It is so diverse, one of the most diverse schools in the area. It encourages you to open your mind and is so accepting of cultures and religions. All the children are so used to the diversity and embrace this.

Do you have a favourite place you love to visit again and again?

I had use of a private quarry, there were 4 species of birds, I did wildlife photography and was shortlisted for national awards. I liked that it I could just go there and be on my own!

In one sentence, how would you sum up what "Making Lives Better" means to you?

It is enriching people's experiences and developing people's opportunities.

Which book, TV show or film do you recommend to everyone?

The Picture of Dorian Gray – Oscar Wilde. I must have read it about 10 times! It is a cracking book.

What's one thing on your bucket list you still hope to tick off?

Canada to visit my lifelong friend who emigrated.

We hope you have enjoyed learning about a member of our Trust family who works so hard to Make Lives Matter. If you would like the opportunity to work with people like this, please visit our Trust website to learn more.
